

The Librarian
 from A Career in Witchcraft by Kaye Umansky

¹ Mr Smike wasn't fond of children. Noisy, ill-mannered little brats with their shrill little voices and grubby little hands. The less he had to do with them, the better. Normally, he would be over in the reference section of the main library, but Miss Jaunty, the children's librarian, had rung in sick and there was nobody else to fill in.

¹⁵ Briskly, he gathered up his papers, slipped them into his briefcase and clipped his pen into his breast pocket. He would finish the list of overdue books at home. It would be something to look forward to after supper. Then, if there was time, he would write another of his complaining letters to the local paper. (Mr Smike wrote a lot of complaining letters to newspapers. It was a kind of hobby. He wrote letters about the state of the drains, the surliness of dustmen, the laziness of the unemployed and the trouble with Youth today. If the paper didn't publish them, he wrote and complained about that.)
