

Postcard from Gabriela

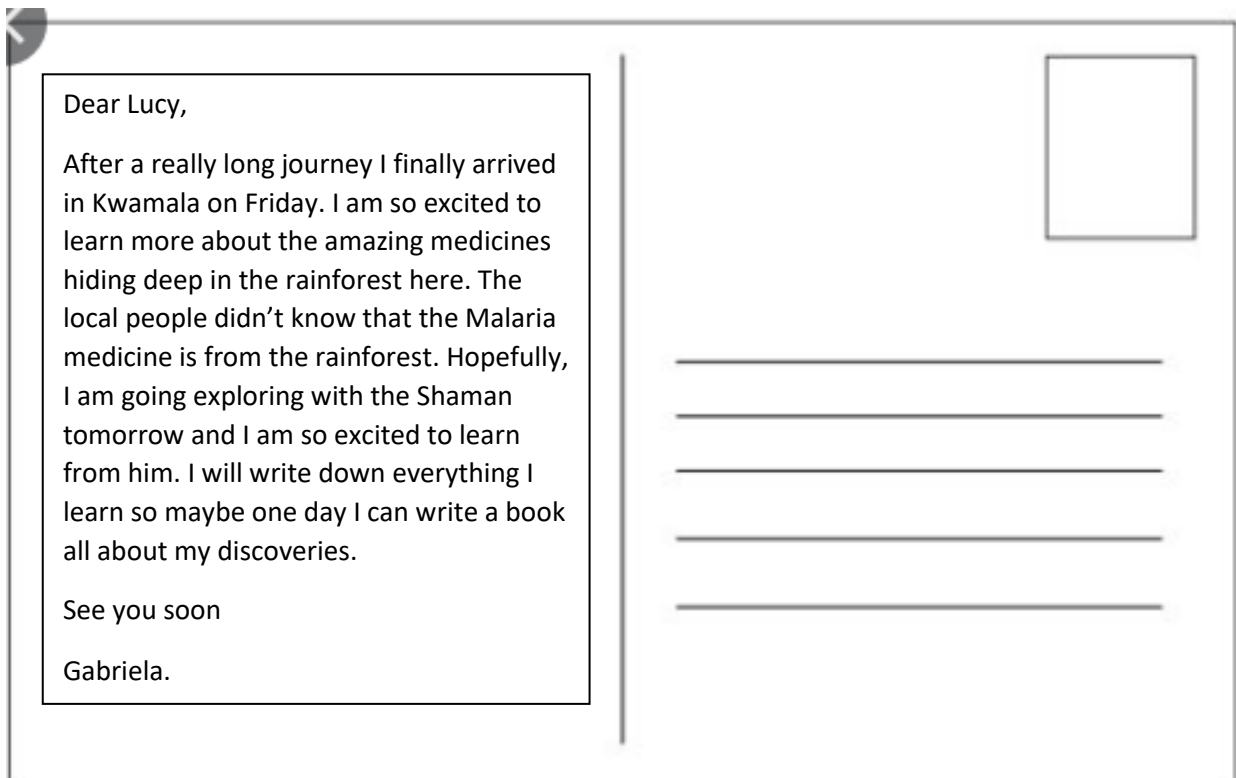

Imagine you are Gabriela – the lady who came to the village to learn about the medicines in the rainforest. You are going to write a postcard to a friend back home telling them about your visit to Kwamala.

What do you think are the key things she would want to tell her friend about?

Read or watch the story again to remind yourself if you need to.

Have a look at my example below to give you some ideas.

You can use the postcard template in the resources folder if you want to or just write it straight into your book.

The image shows a postcard template. On the left side, there is a rectangular box containing the following text:

Dear Lucy,

After a really long journey I finally arrived in Kwamala on Friday. I am so excited to learn more about the amazing medicines hiding deep in the rainforest here. The local people didn't know that the Malaria medicine is from the rainforest. Hopefully, I am going exploring with the Shaman tomorrow and I am so excited to learn from him. I will write down everything I learn so maybe one day I can write a book all about my discoveries.

See you soon

Gabriela.

On the right side of the postcard, there is a rectangular box for a drawing. Below this box are five horizontal lines for writing an address.

Extension task: Draw a rainforest picture which could go on the front of the postcard.
