

What we wanted to do

We wanted to do ice rescue and see if warm water or salt would melt the ice to free the Lego figures.

What we did

We put cold water in two small containers with the Lego figures and put them in the freezer for two days and got them out today. We put warm water on the Lego person and put salt on the Lego bike.

What happened

The quickest way was the warm water to melt the ice.

The salt was not very good, it did work a bit but we had to put warm water on it as well as salt.
