

LO: To write the setting of a legend

Long ago, a kind and ancient king ruled a small town of people. The village was surrounded by trees and nature like London surrounding the queen. Quite close to the village was a gentle, flowing river where the villagers got fresh water everyday. The king lived in a grand palace and the people's houses surrounding it were for the king's protection like lions protecting their meat. Near the village, was a swamp that was filled with blood and the remains of a deadly monster's victims. There were too many to count...

Key

Fronted adverbials

Prepositions

Expanded noun phrases

Similes

Exaggeration