This term our topic is called 'It's All Greek to Me.'

It's all Greek to me is an idiom, meaning a way of saying that you do not understand something that is said or written.

Idioms are phrases which people use in everyday language which do not make sense literally but we understand what they mean.

Here are some more examples.

For example: It's raining cats and dogs. Its literal meaning suggests that cats and dogs are falling from the sky. We interpret it to mean that it is raining hard.

Other Examples:

To stick your neck out is to say or do something that is bold and a bit dangerous. A similar idiom that is used for slightly more dangerous situations is to "go out on a limb." In both idioms, the idea is that you put yourself in a vulnerable position.

To break the ice is to be the first one to say or do something, with the expectation that others will then follow. Another idiom that means something similar is "get the ball rolling."

To get long in the tooth means to get old. The expression was originally used when referring to horses since gums recede with age. So the longer the teeth a horse has, the older it is said to be.

To have a chip on one's shoulder is usually an expression to describe a person who acts, as you say, rudely or aggressively, but also in a manner that could be described as "aggressively defensive." The person seems always ready for a fight.

Your task for your homework is to collect idioms to do with parts of the body.

Butterflies in my tummy; wearing your heart on your sleeve; legs like jelly etc. Then using the outline on the reverse, create a picture so we can display these. See examples below
