

English Homework

Set 270917 Due in 021017

This week found we found out where the words Wednesday and Thursday originally came from.

Wednesday: Woden's Day. Woden, or Odin, was a Norse god who was one of the most powerful of them all Thursday: Thor's Day. Thor was a Norse god who wielded a giant hammer.

What about the rest of the days of the week? Your homework this week is to find the origins of the names of the days of the weeks.

Of course this leads us to wonder about the origin of the names of the months of the year.

Can you find out?

Present your work in a creative way, of your choice, so we can put them on display.

Next week's spelling test will be a mixture of the words we have learnt so far, 'ough,' silent letters and 'ible' and 'able' words. We test the children every Tuesday-remember to ask them how they did.

Parent feedback.
