

Writing week 4, activity 4

Write a letter, like the WAGOLL example you have looked at. Use your ideas table and the text to help you.

Write a letter to Prince Pondicherry as if you were Willy Wonka, describing how you would create his dream chocolate palace.

Remember to include:

- Fronted adverbials
- Conjunctions
- Powerful adjectives
- Expanded noun phrases

Also, don't forget to warn the Prince that he must eat it quickly before it melts!

Write the letter neatly in your exercise book. Try to remember joined handwriting!

Support: If you are finding it tricky, use these sentence starters from the WAGOLL:

First and foremost, my plan would be

As you glance up,

In every room,

Covering the floors, will be

When it is time for bed,

In every area of the palace,

Along every wall,

Finally,
